

2022 Work Incentives Training

Many people with disabilities want to work, but fear losing access to critical programs like Social Security or healthcare under Medicaid and Medicare. This training is designed to dispel myths about working and the impact on disability programs.

Learn More About:

- Social Security eligibility process.
- How income from employment impacts eligibility for SSI and SSDI, Medicare, Medicaid, and other public programs.
- Social Security Work Incentives and how they can be utilized to support individuals with disabilities in employment.
- Identifying and referring individuals who could benefit from the South Dakota Benefits Specialist Network.

Who Should Attend?

Employment Service Providers, VR Counselors/Supervisors, Mental Health Center and Community Support Provider staff, case managers, state agency staff, and other professionals who work with people with disabilities.
